To Whom It May Concern:

Birth control is not a constitutional right and the government does not have any business forcing all insurance policies to provide it without copay.

My husband is now underemployed at 1/3 of his previous wages and his insurance now costs twice as much. We are barely making our mortgage payment and have used up all our savings. We cannot afford to have even higher health care premiums to support other people's rights to have childless sex.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
